CAPUT I
FUNDAMENTUM
CONSOCIATIONIS

1. Nomen hujus consociationis christifidelium in toto « Consociatio Domini Nostri Jesu Christi Regis » est, vel « Consociatio Christi Regis » vel « CCR » in breve.

2. Canoni 298 § 1 se subjecta, CCR doctrinam Catholicam de Christo Rege, in Quas Primas Pii XI præsertim explicata, ad in mundo moderno promovendum incenditur. Etiam CCR ad perfectiorem vitam membrorum suorum fovendam, et ad apostolatus opera (ad evangelizationis incepta, ad pietatis vel caritatis opera exercenda, et præsertim ad ordinem temporalem christiano spiritu animandum) in luce hujus doctrinæ.

IN THE NAME of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, the Holy Trinity; and in special honor of the Second Person, Our Lord Jesus Christ: O Christ the King, Ruler of the Universe, have mercy on us, we beseech Thee, and guard our work to our eternal end.

CHAPTER I BASICS OF THE
CONFRATERNITY

1. The name of this confraternity of Christian faithful is “The Confraternity of Our Lord Jesus Christ the King”, or “The Confraternity of Christ the King” or “CCR” for short.

2. Subjecting itself to Canon 298 § 1, the CCR is inspired toward establishing in the modern world the Catholic teaching about Christ the King, especially as explained by Pius XI in Quas Primas. CCR is also aimed at fostering a more perfect life in its members, and to the work of the apostolate (for the beginning of evangelization, the doing of works of piety and charity, and especially for animating the temporal order with a Christian spirit) in light of this doctrine.

3. Canon 299 § 1 « Integrum est christifidelibus, privata inter se conventione inita, consociationes constituere ad fines de quibus in can. 298, § 1 persequendos » dicit. CCR consociatio in hoc sensu est: congregatio christifidelium privata ad fines in sectione 2 demonstratas constituta. Constitutio hæc ab auctoritate ecclesiastica non laudentur vel commendentur; ergo, CCR « privata » vocatur, sub Canone 299 § 2, et sub Canone 299 § 3 CCR non in Ecclesia agnoscitur quia statuta sua ab auctoritate competenti non recognoscitur. Auctoritati Ecclesiæ CCR tamen semper subjecta est.

4. CCR opera misericordiæ corporalia tendit, præsertim omnia quæ pauperes adjuvant; et opera misericordiæ spiritualia, præsertim de regno terreno socialique Domini nostri Iesu Christi Regis docere.

CAPUT 2 DE MEMBRIS CONSOCIATIONIS

5. Eligibiles ad introeundum in CCREM omnes christifideles, fidem Catholicam a Domino nostro Iesu Christo Rege doctam fideliter credentes et dili-

3. Canon 299 § 1 says, “It is integral to the Christian faithful to form confraternities, begun by a private formation among themselves, for pursuing the ends about which [are written] in can. 298, § 1.” CCR is a confraternity in this sense: a private gathering together of Christian faithful, constituted for the ends shown in section 2. This constitution is neither praised nor recommended by the ecclesiastical authority; therefore, CCR is called “private”, under Canon 299 § 2, and under Canon 299 § 3 the CCR is not known in the Church because its statutes are not recognized by the competent authority. However, the CCR always subjects itself to the authority of the Church.

4. CCR dedicates itself to the corporal works of mercy, especially anything which helps the poor; and the spiritual works of mercy, especially to teach about the earthly and social reign of Our Lord Jesus Christ the King.

CHAPTER 2 MEMBERS OF THE CONFRATERNITY

5. All Christian faithful are eligible to enter the CCR, if they faithfully believe and diligently live the Catholic faith taught by Our Lord Jesus Christ genter viventes, iam annos sedecim tenentes, et baptizati et si potuerunt confirmati.

6. Membra CCRis de classis tribus sunt: comites, milites, et equites.

7. Omnes christifideles fieri comites CCRis possunt; mares solum milites et equites.

8. Qui accipi petunt in CCREM « aspirantes » vocantur.

9. Omnibus aspirantibus necesse est omnes doctrinas catholicas credere, sine exceptione. Nemo in hærese publica accipi in CCREM potest. Omnes aspirantes jurare oportet quod fidelis omnibus doctrinis catholicis sunt et semper manebunt ut accipi in CCREM possint.

10. Forma hujus voti erit: « Ego, N., his verbis juro quod nunc credo et semper credam omnes veritates quas ecclesia sancta catholica, sola semita ad Deum et in cælos, docet; nam Deus ipse eas revelavit, qui non aut decipere aut decipi potest. »

II. Votum aspirante juratum in verbis sequentis in intrante CCREM oportet esse: « In nomine Patris, et Filii, et Spiritus Sancti. Ego, N., orabo et laborabo ad instaurendum regnum terrenum et socialem Domini nostri Jesu Christi, Regis Universi, sic regula hujus Consocationis the King, have reached at least the age of sixteen years, and are baptized and, if possible, confirmed.

6. Members of the CCR are of three types: comrades, soldiers, and knights.

7. All Christian faithful may become comrades of the CCR; males only can become soldiers or knights.

8. Those seeking to be received into the CCR are called “aspirants”.

9. It is necessary for all aspirants to believe all Catholic teachings, without exception. No one in public heresy may be received into the CCR. All aspirants must swear that they are faithful to all Catholic teachings and will always remain so in order to be received into the CCR.

10. The form of this oath will be thus: “I, N., swear by these words that I do now believe and always will believe all the truths which the Holy Catholic Church, the sole path to God and to heaven, teaches; for God Himself has revealed them, Who can neither deceive nor be deceived.”

II. The oath which the aspirant must swear, upon entering the CCR, shall be in the following words: “In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. I, N., will pray and work for the establishment of the earthly and social reign of Our Lord comitem/militem/equitem requirit, et in omnibus modis qui in potestate mea sunt. Christus vincit! Christus regnat! Christus imperat! »

Jesus Christ, King of the Universe, as the rule of this Confraternity requires a comrade/soldier/knight to do, and in all ways which are within my power. Christ conquers! Christ reigns! Christ is the ruler!”

12. Aspirantibus necesse est vota hæc in lingua Latina jurare; scientiam suam tamen sensus eorum demonstrare oportet in vel Latina vel vulgari, antequam juraverint. Aspirans vota legere potest dum juret.

13. Cum aspirans votum juraverit, nomen ejus in censum CCRis inscribitur. Nomina in censu pars intentionum CCRis semper erunt.

SECTIO 2.I AD COMITEM FACIENDUM

16. Tum aspirans jurat sic in numero 11.

12. It is necessary that aspirants take these oaths in the Latin language; however, they must demonstrate their knowledge of their meaning in either Latin or the vulgar tongue before they swear. The aspirant may read the oaths while swearing.

13. When an aspirant has sworn, his name is written in the Roll of the CCR. The names on the Roll shall always be part of the intentions of the CCR.

SECTION 2.I BECOMING A COMRADE

14. First the aspirant must take the oath from number 10.

Quaestiones responsaque in Latina vel vulgari esse possunt, in electione aspirantis. Non necesse est quod responsa verbatim sunt, sed sensum Catechismi continere oportet. Dux capituli responsa judicat.

49. The money of the chapter is guarded with great care, by the treasurer especially but also by all members. To this end, the Confraternity has established the following rules:

a. A chapter never gathers a large amount of money. Money is spent for a good cause, toward a suitable goal of the Confraternity, with due speed.

b. If a lot of money is required for a necessary goal (for example, for a building for the poor), the chapter continues its other good works, and the money niæ pro hac fine secreto servat donec satis pecuniæ aggregatur; in illo tempore, pecuniæ celeritate idonea pro hac fine absumitur.

c. Nullum membrum pecunias capituli absumere potest nisi dux vel arcarius. Si dux et arcarius de assumptione pecuniarum non convenit, capitulum solum decernit. Si capitulum pecunias absumere vult, dux et arcarius eas absumere oportet, etiam si non convenient.

d. Solum in exigentia, dux vel arcarius pecunias capituli absumit sine capituli permissione. Dux vel arcarius deferre de assumptione pecuniarum in proximo cætu capituli oportet; si capitulum non convenient in assumptione, dux vel arcarius statim reddere pecunias capitulo oportet.

e. Arcarius, si dux vel capitulum roget, de pecuniis capituli capitulo toto deferre oportet. Documenta originalia (apochas, dictiones argentariae, etc.) exhibere oportet. Si dux roget, et arcarius ei non placet, capitulo casum refert. Si capitulo non placet, capitulum arcarium admonet vel deponit, et auctoritatibus civilibus eum defert, si casus requirit.

for this purpose is kept separately until enough money has been gathered; at that time, the money is spent for this goal with due speed.

c. No member may spend the money of the chapter except the leader or the treasurer. If the leader and the treasurer do not agree on the spending of money, only the chapter decides. If the chapter wants to spend money, the leader and the treasurer must spend it, even if they do not agree.

d. Only in an emergency, the leader or the treasurer may spend the chapter's money without the chapter's permission. The leader or the treasurer must report about this spending of money at the next chapter meeting; if the chapter does not agree with the expense, the leader or treasurer must immediately return the money to the chapter.

e. The treasurer, if the leader or the chapter ask, must report to the whole chapter about the chapter's money. He must show the original documents (receipts, bank statements, etc.). If the leader asks, and the treasurer does not satisfy him, he refers the case to the chapter. If he does not satisfy the chapter, the chapter admonishes or removes the treasurer, and reports him to the civil authorities if the case requires.

50. Dux vel totum capitulum alia officia necessaria instituet, si bonum capituli requirat. Omnia hæc officia duci subiecta sunt.

51. Si arcarius a duce vel capitulo tanto indiligens, dissolutus, vel falsus in officio ejus exhibeat, capitulum eum ex officio dimittere oportet, et auctoritatibus civilibus, si necessarium sit, eum defert.

man will serve for the next year, and the tribune's year of service begins after the meeting.

62. The tribune serves the senate for one year.

63. The tribune's duties for the sen-

Si capitulum infidelis, indiligens, vel falsus in munere esse inveniatur, senatus capitulum ut se reformat dirigit; et, si capitulum se reformare negat, senatus capitulum supprimere oportet, et capitulum nec nomen nec symbola Consociationis uti permittetur.

73. Nisi judicare in malefactionis vel indiligiencie casis, senatus bonum Consociationis et fines ejus colit.

CAPUT 4

DE SIGNIS SYMBOLISQUE CONSOCIATIONIS

77. CCR, sic omnes ordines, signa particularia habet. Usus horum signorum hac regula gubernatur.

SECTIO 4.I

DE SYMBOLIS CONSOCIATIONIS

78. Signum Consociationis est crux græca, vel negra vel rubra, litteris « C » in sinistro supero tetrante, « R » in dextro supero tetrante, « I » in sinistro infero tetrante, et « U » in dextro infero tetrante, et coronatione spinarum totum circumeunte.

79. Litteræ « CRIU » « Christus Rex, Imperator Universi » significant.

80. Arma Consociationis, tota, sunt scutum ceruleanum, in tres partes divisa a lata linea aureana. In sinistro est corona spinarum; in dextro est orbis terrarum et crux in cacumine suo; et infero est fasces, symbolum potentatis et imperii. In centro est crux græca, rubra,

76. These rules cannot be changed except by the senate, and the spirit and ends of these rules shall be preserved.

CHAPTER 4

CONFRATERNITY SIGNS AND SYMBOLS

77. The CCR, like all organizations, has particular symbols. The use of these symbols is governed by this rule.

SECTION 4.I

CONFRATERNITY SYMBOLS

79. The letters “CRIU” stand for “Christus Rex, Imperator Universi”, or “Christ the King, Ruler of the Universe”.

80. The Arms of the Confraternity, whole, are a blue shield, divided into three parts by a broad golden line. On the left is the Crown of Thorns; on the right is a globe, with the Cross on top; and beneath is a fasces, a symbol of power and rule. In the center is a in circulo (i.e., « crux solis »), et paulo infra centrum crucis corona regalis, aureana, est. Vexillæ longæ supra et infra scutum sunt; supra scutum « Christus vincit Christus » scribitur, et infra scutum « regnat Christus imperat » scribitur. Inscriptio tota « Christus vincit, Christus regnat, Christus imperat » est. Et arma hæc arma tota sunt.

81. Arma simplicia Consociationis sunt crux græca, rubra, in circulo (i.e., « crux solis »), et paulo infra centrum crucis corona regalis, aureana, est. Est signum in centro armorum totorum est.

82. Vexilla Consociationis est ager ceruleanus, armis simplicibus paulo supra centri verticalis, et in centro horizontale. Vexilla est longior quam lata, dissimilis vexillis modernis.

83. Ceruleanus est color Mariæ, Matris Dei; aureanus est color regiminis; rubrus est color sanguinis et passionis. Profunde omnes graves in charismate Consociationis sunt.

84. Baculum Capituli. Omne capitulum baculum capituli habet, quod a duce capituli fertur. Baculum ferme sex pedes (ferme duo metri) in longitate et Greek cross, red, in a circle (that is, a “sun cross”), and a little below the center of the cross is a golden royal crown. There are long banners above and below the shield; above the shield is written, “Christus vincit Christus”, and below the shield is written “regnat Christus imperat”. The whole inscription is, “Christus vincit, Christus regnat, Christus imperat” (in English, “Christ conquers, Christ reigns, Christ rules”). And these arms are the Full Arms.

81. The Simple Arms of the Confraternity are the Greek cross, red, in a circle (that is, a “sun cross”), and a little below the center of the cross is a golden royal crown. This is the symbol in the center of the Full Arms.

82. The Standard of the Confraternity is a blue field with the Simple Arms slightly above vertical center and exactly on the horizontal center. This is longer than wide, in contradiction to modern flags.

83. Blue is the color of Mary, the Mother of God; gold is the color of kingship; and red is the color of blood and suffering. All are deeply meaningful for the charism of the Confraternity.

84. The Staff of the Chapter. Every chapter has a staff of the chapter, carried by the leader. The staff is about six feet (about two meters) long and about one una uncia (duo vel tres centimetri) in latitudine est, et signum Consociationis prope cacuminem fert. Baculum ligneum esse oportet.

85. Gladius Capituli. Omne capitulum gladium capituli habet, quod a duce capituli fertur. Gladius in forma crucis esse oportet.

86. Coronula spinarum devotio privata est; membra gerere eam non requiruntur. Coronula, vel « parva corona », est circulus parvus in materia core corianave panninave compositus, spinis parvis additus causa pœnitentiæ. Spinæ coronulæ injuriam causare non oportet, et celetur si possibile sit. Geritur in carpo, circum alvo, vel in alia parte idonea corporis.

SECTIO 4.2 DE SERMONIBUS CONSOCIATIONIS

87. CCR sic omnes confraternitates sermones particulares qui charismata et fines eorum singulariter nuntiant habet.

88. Sententia CCRis est Age viriliter, noli morare. Prima pars hujus sententiæ in prima epistola Sancti Pauli Apostoli ad Corinthios est: « Vigilate, stete in fide, viriliter agite, et confortamini ». Secunda Pars necessitatem nuntiat inch (two or three centimeters) wide, and it has the Seal of the Confraternity near the top. The staff must be made of wood.

85. The Sword of the Chapter. Every chapter has a sword of the chapter, which is born by the leader. The sword must have the form of a cross.

86. The Little Crown of Thorns is a private devotion; members are not required to wear it. The coronula, or “little crown”, is a small circle made of plant material, leather, or cloth, with small thorns added for the sake of penance. The coronula’s thorns must not cause injury, and should be hidden if possible. It is worn on the wrist, around the waist, or on some other suitable part of the body.

SECTION 4.2 ON THE MOTTOES OF THE CONFRATERNITY

87. The CCR, like all confraternities, has certain words which uniquely express their charisms and goals.

88. The motto of the CCR is Age viriliter, noli morare (“Act manfully; delay not”). The first part of this motto is from the first epistle of St. Paul the Apostle to the Corinthians: “Watch ye, stand fast in the faith, do manfully, and instantis actionis, agentis nunc, et non morantis donec serum nimis agere est.

89. Acclamatio CCRIS est Christus vincit! Christus regnat! Christus imperat! Hæc acclamatio vetus gloriosaque, pars Laudum Regiæ, est; recitari clamrique frequentissime debet.

90. Litania CCRIS est Litania D. N. Iesu Christi Regis (vide Appendix A in pagina 30). Præsertim in processionibus Litania dicitur.

SECTIO 4.3 DE HABITU CONSOCIATIONIS

91. Membra CCRIS qui non clerici sunt signa Consociationis ferunt, signa diversa in temporibus diversis.

92. Omnia membra CCRIS Signum Consociationis induere permittuntur, vel in vestimento, in numismate affixo, vel in alio modo ostendo.

93. Milites et equites CCRIS Signum Consociationis induere permittuntur, sed etiam arma ejus, vel totum vel simplicem.

94. Milites et equites CCRIS sagum Consociationis induere permittuntur; sabe strengthened.” The second part expresses the necessity of acting now, of not putting off action until it is too late.

89. The acclamation of the CCR is Christus vincit! Christus regnat! Christus imperat! (“Christ conquers! Christ reigns! Christ is the ruler!”). This acclamation is ancient and glorious, and is a part of the Royal Praises; it should be very frequently recited and shouted.

90. The Litany of the CCR is the Litany of Our Lord Jesus Christ the King (see Appendix A on page 30). The Litany is said especially during processions.

SECTION 4.3 CONFRATERNITY DRESS

91. Those members of the CCR who are not clerics wear markers of the membership, different markers for different times.

92. All members of the CCR may wear the Seal of the Confraternity, either on a pin, on their clothing, or displayed in some other way.

93. Soldiers and knights of the Confraternity may wear the Seal of the Confraternity, as well as its Arms, either the full version or the simple.

94. Soldiers and knights of the CCR may wear the cloak of the Confraternity.

gum est sic sagum Romanorum in multis modis. Sagum Romanum vestimentum belli erat, et pro militibus equitibusque CCRIS, vestimentum belli etiam est. Bellum tamen spirituale est, non bellum carnale; sagum ergo ceruleanum, non rubrum, est. Sagum longum est, ad terram; et figitur in scapula dextra est. Arma simplicia in sinistro latere est, supra cor. Si possibile est, sagum figi numismate S igni Consociationis debet.

95. Idoneus est quod saga lanae sint. Arma simplicia quarumcumque idonearum materiarum facetur.

96. Milites et equites CCRIS rostripe-tasus induere permittuntur. Dicti in lingua francica « chapeau à bec » et in anglica « bycocket », petasus est ceruleus et lintea feltrove facitur. Crista (pluma, penna, vel alio signo) alba in petaso figi oportet, in honore Catholicorum præteriorum assertorum doctrinæ Christi Regis, qui cristas blancas in certaminibus ferunt. Crista affigi debet a numismate ferente signum Consociationis, si possibile est.

97. Conjunctim, habitus CCRIS habitus appellatur.

This cloak is like the Roman sagum in many ways. The Roman sagum was a garment of war, and for the soldiers and knights of the CCR, it is also a garment of war. The war, however, is spiritual, not a carnal war; the cloak is therefore blue, not red. The cloak is long, to the ground, and it is fastened on the right shoulder. The Simple Arms are on the left side, over the heart. If possible, the cloak should be fastened with a medal of the Seal of the Confraternity.

95. It is fitting that the cloaks should be made of wool. The Simple Arms may be made of any suitable material.

96. Soldiers and knights of the CCR are permitted to wear the “beak-cap”. Called in French “chapeau à bec” and in English a “bycocket”, the hat is blue and made of linen or felt. A white cockade (plume, feather, or other sign) must be attached to the hat, in honor of the past Catholic defenders of the doctrine of Christ the King who wore white cockades in their struggles. The cockade should be affixed, if possible, by a pin bearing the Seal of the Confraternity.

97. All together, the dress of the CCR is referred to as the habitus.

CAPUT 5
DE CÆREMONIIS
CONSOCIATIONIS

98. Omnis coetus Consociationis in virtute et dignitate persequendus est. CCR est ordo Catholicus, et nullus coetus CCRIS malam famam CCRi fideive dare potest.

99. Nec alcohol nec tabacum, nec alium chemicum inebriante, in coetibus CCRIS permittitur. Coffeignum non est chemicum inebrians.

100. Si extra coetum membra congregant, ebrietas propter alium chemicum non permittitur. Usus rationis semper a omnibus membris conservandus est.

101. In omnibus rebus quæ CCR agit vel in quibus CCR participat, membra CCRIS in modo idoneo CCRIS agere oportet.

SECTIO 5.I
DE CŒTIBUS CAPITULI

102. In initio coetus, dux coetum in ordinem Baculo capituli convocat, verberante illum ter in tabulatum, et dicens: « Audite! In nomine Patris, et Filii, et Spiritus Sancti, et præsertim in nomine Domini nostri Jesu Christi Regis, et in nomine Reginæ nostræ, Matris ejus,

CHAPTER 5
THE CEREMONIES OF THE
CONFRATERNITY

98. Every meeting of the Confraternity must be conducted in virtue and dignity. The CCR is a Catholic organization, and no meeting of the CCR may give a bad name to the CCR or to the Faith.

99. Neither alcohol, tobacco, nor any other intoxicating chemical is permitted at meetings of the CCR. Caffeine is not an intoxicating chemical.

100. If outside of a meeting members gather, drunkenness due to any chemical is not permitted. The use of reason must always be maintained by every member.

101. In all things which the CCR does, or in which the CCR participates, every member must act in a way fitting for a member of the CCR.

SECTION 5.I
CHAPTER MEETINGS

102. At the beginning of the meeting, the leader calls the meeting to order with the Staff of the chapter, striking it three times on the floor, and saying, "Hear! In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, and especially in the Name of Our Lord Jesus Christ the King, and in the Name of our Queen, His Mother, Mary ever Virgin, I call together this meeting of the name of the chapter, a chapter of the Confraternity of Christ the King!"

103. When all members have come to order, if there is a cleric in the meeting, he leads the chapter in the following prayers; if there is not a cleric present, the leader leads the chapter in the sign of the Cross, saying, "In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit. Amen."

104. The leader then states, "In the Name of Jesus Christ, Ruler of the Universe, we consecrate ourselves to His Sacred Heart, ever anew."

105. The leader then leads the chapter in the Act of Consecration of the Human Race to the Sacred Heart of Jesus.

106. Afterwards a suitable song may be sung, if the leader and the chapter so desire.

107. The treasurer must, at this time, make report regarding the money of the chapter.

108. Old business is discussed first; then, new business.

109. At the end of the meeting, the leader leads the chapter in the Royal Praises, either spoken or singing.

110. The meeting is finished by the leader, when he bangs the Staff of the dicens: « Cœtus nominis capituli, capitulo Consociationis Christi Regis, finitur, in nomine Patris, et Filii, et Spiritus Sancti. Amen. »

III. Et membra in viis suorum ire permittuntur.

SECTIO 5.2 DE CŒTIBUS SENATU

II2. Cœtus senatu, mutatis mutandis, sic cœtus capitulorum conducitur.

SECTIO 5.3 DE INDUCTIONE ASPIRANTUM

II3. Si quicumque comes CCRIS fieri vult, solum promittere oportet quod obligationes orationis et laboris adimplebat; nulla cæremonia necesse est.

II4. Cumque aspirans in CCREM inducere vult, primo a duce capituli examinari in Catechismo Christi Regis oportet. Si in judicio ducis examen succedit, accipi in CCREM potest.

II5. In cœtu capituli, vel ordinario vel pro hac rem convento, aspirans deforis cœtus manet dum dux et capitulum

III. And the members may now go their own ways.

SECTION 5.2 SENATE MEETINGS

II2. Senate meetings are conducted like chapter meetings, with the necessary changes being made.

SECTION 5.3 THE ENTRY OF ASPIRANTS

II3. If anyone wishes to become a comrade of the CCR, he must only promise that he will fulfil the obligations of prayer and work; no ceremony is needed.

II4. Whenever an aspirant wants to be admitted into the CCR, he must first be examined in the Catechism of Christ the King by the leader of the chapter. If, in the judgment of the leader, he passes, he may be admitted into the CCR.

II5. At a meeting of the chapter, either a normal meeting or convened for that purpose, the aspirant waits outside primam partem cæremoniæ facit.

116. Dux Baculum capituli ter in tabulatum verberat et dicit, « Audite! In nomine Patris, et Filii, et Spiritus Sancti, et præsertim in nomine Domini nostri Jesu Christi Regis, et in nomine Reginæ nostræ, Matris ejus, Mariæ, semper Virginis, cœtum Consociationis Christi Regis convoco! »

117. Dux capitulum in signum Crucis, in Pater noster, in Ave Maria, et in Gloria Patri ducit; dux tum sic in cœtu ordinario introductionem et Consecrationem Humani Generis Sacro Cordi Jesus Christi capitulum ducit.

118. Dux tum dicit, « Digni fratres, aspirans in servitutem specialem nostram Domini nostri Jesu Christi Regis inducere vult. Aspirans, nomen aspirantis, cognitus mihi præparatus est, et examen in Catechismi succedit. Aspirans etiam cognitus mihi dignus paratusque nos in opera nostra sancta conjungere est. Si quicumque aspirantem objiciat, dic nunc! Hic enim jam frater noster erit. »

119. Si quicumque aspirantem objiciat, dicit, et capitulum objectionem confert et resolvit. Si capitulum objiciat, dux exit, aspiranti refert, et reddit, cum while the leader and the chapter perform the first part of the ceremony.

116. The leader strikes the Staff of the chapter three times on the floor and states, “Hear! In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Spirit, and especially in the Name of Our Lord Jesus Christ, the King, and in the Name of our Queen, His Mother, Mary ever Virgin, I call together this meeting of the Confraternity of Christ the King!”

117. The leader then leads the chapter in the sign of the Cross, in the Our Father, Hail Mary, and Glory be; then the leader, as in an ordinary meeting, leads the chapter in the introduction to and the Consecration of the Human Race to the Sacred Heart of Jesus Christ.

118. The leader then says, “Worthy brothers, an aspirant wishes to join in our special service to Our Lord Jesus Christ the King. The aspirant, aspirant's name, is known to me to have prepared, and has passed the examination in the Catechism. The aspirant is also known to me to be worthy and ready to join together with us in our holy work. If anyone objects to the aspirant, speak now! For soon he will be our brother.”

119. If anyone objects to the aspirant, he speaks, and the chapter discusses and resolves the objection. If the chapter objects, the leader leaves, informs the as-cōtum concludit in modo numeri 109 et seq. Si capitulum non objiciat, dux fratri Baculum capituli tradit et aspiranti eum mittit, qui aspirantem in cōtum ducit.

120. Frater aspirantem ante ducem dicit, et Baculum capituli duci tradit. Aspirans se inflectit, and dux caput suum inflectit.

121. Dux aspiranti dicit, « Aspirans, quod de Consociatione Christi Regis petis? »

122. Aspirans respondet, « Solum servire Regem meum. »

123. Dux aspiranti respondet, « Scis quod tibi requiret? »

124. Aspirans respondet, « Scio, et studeo ut agam. »

125. Dux respondet, « Ergo aspirans genua flectat et Regem suam adoret. »

126. Crucificum frater duci tradit dum aspirans genua flectit. Dux crucifixum accipit et aspiranti ostendit, dicens, « Ecce, Rex tuus et Deus tuus. Et < non est servus major domino suo, neque apostolus major est eo qui misit illum >. Rex tuus in cruce passus est; ita tu etiam in cruce tua patiendus es, quacumque sit. Huic vocaris, et huic nos omnes vocamur: pati Jesu Christo, Domino nostro, Deo nostro, capitaneo nostro, Regi nopirant, and returns, when he closes the meeting as described in number 109. If the chapter does not object, the leader gives the Staff of the chapter to a brother and sends him to the aspirant, who leads the aspirant into the meeting.

120. The brother leads the aspirant before the leader and hands the Staff of the chapter to the leader. The aspirant bows, and the leader bows his head.

121. The leader says to the aspirant, “Aspirant, what do you seek from the Confraternity of Christ the King?”

122. The aspirant responds, “Only to serve my King.”

123. The leader responds to the aspirant, “Do you know what will be required of you?”

124. The aspirant responds, “I know, and I am eager to do it.”

125. The leader responds, “Then let the aspirant kneel and adore his King.”

126. A brother hands a crucifix to the leader while the aspirant kneels. The leader receives the crucifix and shows it to the aspirant, saying, “Behold, your King and your God! And ‘[t]he servant is not greater than his lord; neither is the apostle greater than he that sent him’. Your king suffered on the cross; so also you must suffer on your cross, whatever it may be. To this you are called, and to this we all are called: to suffer for Jesus stro. Sed numquam obliviscere, aspirans: Rex noster est creator noster, et Deus noster; Rex noster est omnipræsens, omnisciens, omnipotens — sed etiam unus nostri, frater noster et amicus, qui sic nos amat quod hoc tormentum, quod ante te vides, passus est, et quidem in altaribus cotidie patitur, propter nos et salutem nostram. Adora eum, aspirans! Adora eum, et patere sic Rex tuus patitur; esto sicut Rex tuus, nam solum in hoc modo recte eo servire potes. »

127. Duo fratres post aspirantem appropinquant, magnam crucem ferentes, dum dux orationem crucifici dicat. Oratione perfecta, fratres crucem in scapulam dextram aspirantis ponunt.

128. Dux dicit, « Rex noster nobis dixit tollere crucem nostram, jugum quo opera ejus operamus; sed Rex noster etiam nobis dixit quod < [j]ugum meum...suave est, et onus meum leve ». Tollite ergo jugum ejus, et in opera ejus te ipsum infunde. »

129. Aspirans per spatum cum cruce procedit; omnes membra præter ducem procedit post eum. Aspirans tum ducem appropinquant dum capitulum in ordinem post eum reddit.

130. Dux crucifcum ad aspirantem

Christ, Our Lord, our captain, our King. But never forget, aspirant: our King is our creator, and our God; our King is omnipresent, all-knowing, all-powerful — but He is also one of us, our brother and our friend, who so loves us that He suffered this torment, which you see before you, and indeed suffers it every day on the altars, for us and our salvation. Adore Him, aspirant! Adore Him, and suffer as your King suffers; be like your King, for only in this way can you rightly serve him.”

127. Two brothers approach behind the aspirant bearing a large cross while the leader says the prayer of the crucifix. When the prayer has been finished, the brothers place the cross on the aspirant's right shoulder.

128. The leader says, “Our King told us to take up our cross, the yoke by which we do His work; but our King also told us that ‘my yoke is sweet and my burden light’. Take up, therefore, His yoke, and pour yourself into His work.”

129. The aspirant proceeds around the room with the cross; all the members, besides the leader, proceed behind him. The aspirant then approaches the leader while the chapter returns to order behind him.

132. Dux Baculum capituli fratri tradit et accipit Gladium, dum aspirans in uno genu dextro solo stat. Et eum in forma crucis, cuspidem deorsum, tenens, dicit, « Aspirans, bene sciens omnia quae tibi requiret, vis in Consociationem Domini nostri Jesu Christi Regis induci? »

133. Si aspirans adhuc sic vult, respondit, « Sic volo. » Si non adhuc sic velit, respondit, « Nolo induci », et descendere permittitur.

134. Dux gladio scapulos aspirantis dextrum et sinistrum verberat, dicens, « Aspirans, gere gladium tuum in servitute Regis Universi, Jesu Christi, et semper in servitute et auxilio aliorum, praesertim pauperum, et viduarum, et pupillorum, et omnium qui in necessitate to the aspirant, and the aspirant kisses its feet. Two brothers approach behind the aspirant and take away the cross. Then the whole chapter kisses the crucifix's feet.

131. The leader hands the crucifix to a brother, and receives the Staff of the chapter. He strikes the right and left shoulder of the aspirant with it, in token of the sufferings of our King, saying, “By these blows remember to suffer, as also your King suffers.”

132. The leader hands the Staff of the chapter to a brother and takes the Sword, while the aspirant goes to one knee, the right, only. And holding it in the form of a cross, the point downward, he says, “Aspirant, knowing well all the things that will be required of you, do you wish to be brought into the Confraternity of Our Lord Jesus Christ the King?”

133. If the aspirant still so wishes, he answers, “I so wish.” If the aspirant does not still so wish, he answers, “I do not wish to be let in”, and he is permitted to depart.

134. The leader strikes the shoulders of the aspirant, right and left, with the sword, saying, “Aspirant, bear thy sword in the service of the King of the Universe, Jesus Christ, and always in service and assistance of others, especially the poor, the widows, the orphans, and all those curæ et caritatis sunt. »

135. Aspirans manum dextrum levat et jurat sic in numero II.

136. Post juravit, Aspirans caput suum inclinat dum dux eum gladio verberat.

137. Aspirante verberato, dux gladium fratri tradit et manum suum ad aspirantem extendit, dicens, « Leva, digne frater; inter amicos enim tu es. »

138. Aspirans levat, et dux eum complectitur in modo commodo loco ejus. Tum omne capitulum eum complectitur.

139. Aspirante inducendo, si cœtus pro hac causa convenitur, dux cœtum claudit sic in numero 109 et seq. Si est cœtus ordinarius, dux in cœtum procedit.
